Add this to the list of items on Big Sis' charm necklace:

- The broken tip of a pin of some kind, made of solid iron. Close inspection bears the words "ThyssenKrupp" stamped into it. The remains of the pin are about 2" long and the diameter of a pencil. It ends with a curious array of dots and wedges, as if it might fit into something. Should someone manage to get to a working computer, or make a Knowledge (History) roll at -6, she recalls ThyssenKrupp as a German steelmaker active during World War II.

Page 69: Change "Event 1: Judged!" to "Prelude: Judged!" and "Event 2: Good for Business" to "Event 1: Good for Business."

Pages 82-83: The Buzzard's and his thugs' Flight power should have Climb 2.

Pages 86-87, 93-95: Change k'tharen and v'sori pulse weapons to match stats in the beginning of the book and all fusion grenade damage from 3d8 to 3d10.
